Anniversary Celebration by German Veterans.

Reception and Banquet Given by a Prosperous Society-Origin and History of the Organization.

The German Veteran Society, or, as it is known in the vernacular, "Der Deutsche Krieger Verein," of San Francisco, celebrated its eighth anniversary last night with a reception and banquet at Eintract Hall, 816 Post street. The verein was organized on June 2, 1884, as a branch of the national society of the same name, by eight men, but numbers today 335 members, the great majority of whom assembled around the festive board last night to commemorate the founders and celebrate the natal of the society.

THE RECEPTION AND BANQUET.

AS Jollification With a Triple Purpose Held Last Night. There long tables stretching from end to end of Eintracht Hall were surrounded by some 800 ladies and gentlemen who assembled in response to notices and invitations sent out during the preceding week. It was the eighth anniversary of the German Krieger Verein and the foundation of the National League of Krieger Vereins, which they had come to celebrate, and after midnight they added to their programme a tentonic-American recognition of the one hundred and sixteenth anniversary of the declaration of independence.

There was not much attempt made in the way of decorations. The American and German flags combined, and the standard of the society prominently displayed, were all that had been done in that line, but the long tables were spread with a plentiful supply of solid and liquid refreshments.

It was nearly 9 o'clock when Adolph Becker, the president of the society, mounted the platform, and after an overture by Gottlieb von der Mehden's orches- front. When, about a year ago, a German tra, delivered an address of welcome, after which he briefly reviewed the the Krieger Verein who entertained the history of the Verein and the League. His remarks were enthusiastically ap-plauded and when he closed with a call for three cheers for the San Francisco Krieger Verein there was a hearty response, which shook the old building from the rafters to the foundation. Immediately after President Becker finished his remarks he was elected tonstmas-ter for the evening and was escorted to the seat of honor. Then followed a long programme of songs, recitations, instrumental music and humorous speeches. Fred Hitzigrath of Cincinnati made the hit of the evening by singing "Furor Teu-tonicus," a parody on the "Wacht am Rhein," composed and sung first in Chicago after Bismarck's famous speech in the Ger-man Reichstag on February 11, 1888, during which he made the announcement that the Germans were afraid of none but God. Among the others who contributed to the

Among the others who contributed to the smusement of the guests were Heury Ahl-born, Comrades Dino and Pankow, E. En-zelhard, S. Siefert, the Schlundt brothers, E. Buhman, Max Dino and the singing sec-tion of the verein, under the leadership of Professor Philip Friederich.

As the hour grew later, the hilarity in-creased, and when, at midnight, Chairman Becker announced that it was now time to celebrate the Fourth of July, the German enthusiasm gave way to American patriotenthusiasm gave way to American pathot-ism, and cheer after cheer was drank by the merrymakers in honor of everybody and everything, not forgetting the San Francisco press and its representatives, present and absent. The committee which had charge of the successful affair was composed of Messrs. George Braun, Gustay Wolf, Fritz Pankow, John Welz, F. Siebert and Adolph Becker.

The 40 branches which form the league are loca-ted by the Collegies of the Society.

The 40 branches which Badge of the Society, form the league are loca-ited in the following clites: Cincinnati, Chi-cago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Denver, Kansas City, San Francisco, Clevoland, Batesville (Ind.), Fort Wayne, Pittsburg, Peoria, Daven-port, Jolli et, St. Joseph, Dubuque, Toledo, San Antonio, Elmburst (Ill.), Aurora (Ill.), Butte City, Winona (Minn.), Akron (Ohio), Columbus, Saginaw, Little Rock (Ark.) and Minneapolis. They represent some 12,000 members. There is also another smaller Minneapolis. They represent some 12,000 members. There is also another smaller league, composed of the vereins located in New York and vicinity, numbering some 4000 members, and there are some 10 or 12 smaller vereins scattered about which as yet have not joined the league. These latter are estimated to have an aggregate mem-bership of 4000 more, which would make the total of members in the United States about

The distinguishing badge worn by the members is a fac-simile of the Iron Cross, and their uniform consists of a blouse and black, soft army hat, somewhat similar to that worn by the Grand Army of the Re-public. The great majority of the mem-bers are men of the middle class—trades-men, mechanics, shonkeers, restaurant or men, mechanics, shopkeers, restaurant or saloon keepers, etc. They nearly all have served their time in the rank and file of the German army. Commissioned officers are very much in the minority, although nearly every one of the vereins has a few among its members.

Organization. The San Francisco Krieger Verein was founded in 1884 by Robert Wieneke, Rudolph Kunig, Gustav Wolff, Jacob Galle (deceased), Emil George, Herman Bohlman, Emil Stepp and A. F. Wehner (deceased). During the eight years of "its existence the verein has been most prosperous, and it ranks among the foremost of the many German sceleties in this city. On all public occasions the Krieger Verein is to the fleet of warships was in the harbor, it was visitors and escorted them out of the Golden Gate The local Verein's finances are in a flour-

The local Verein's increes are in a flour-ishing condition, although nearly $2500 were paid out during the last year for sick and other benefits. It is the intention to build in the near future a home for aged members either in this city or near by. The officers of the San Francisco Krieger Verein are: President, Adolph Becker, third term; Secretary, William Reinhold; Finan-ial Secretary, Edward, Ahleman, The cial Secretary, Euward Ahleman. The headquarters are at B'nai B'rith Hall, where meetings are held semi-monthly. The eighth annual convention of the league will commence on August 20 in Kansas City and continue for four days. The programme for this event has arrived here and it promises to be a great affair. There will be parades by day and night, picnics, ser endes, banquets, concerts, athletic exhibi-tions, bell shooting contests and many other forms of entertainment. The delegates from this city are Adolph Becker and Adolph Franke.

THE CRACKER.

Two Buildings Set on Fire by the Little Explosive. As usual the police and the youthful representative of the great American public yesterday forgot all about the law prohibiting the firing of crackers and other explosives expressive of patriotism and unbounded joy. Pedestrians walked the streets with a fearful consciousness that their eyes, nerves and garments were in dauger of irretrievable ruin from the rockets and crackers that were showering sparks on every side

It would be a difficult task to figure up the damage done. At 4:15 o'clock the roof of a two-story frame building at 1109 Larkin st was set on fire by crackers that had been thrown upon it by patriotic young Americans. The roof of the building was consumed entailing a loss of $1000 upon the owner, a Mrs. Deacon, who lives in Alamine of Brien, who lost $550 by the destruction of her furniture. While the building was

Unless Oakland eliminates the wild-throw plank from its platform before the opening of the next championship season then all is indeed lost. Wild throws will plast the prospects of any team if persisted in, provided, of course, that the team has any prospects to blast. If not, then a few untamed throws make no particular difference, except to the spectator, who does not greatly enjoy seeing a game thrown away, as the last two have been.

Those unfortunate young persons from across the bay have played the short end in 47 games out of 68, but it is only of late that they developed as specialists in the wild throw line. This was what lost them the game yesterday, throws and failure to connect safely with old man Hoffman's delivery. But two safe shots were made by the tailenders, both of which were contributed by John J. O'Brien. One of these was a single and the other a home-run drive to the clubhouse, which scored the second and last run for Oakland.

RAW BASEBALL WEATHER. Of the Friscos' seven tallies five were the outcome of dinky-dink throws and the others the result of bungles by M. Whitehead, who is growing more discouraged every day. O'Brien's home run was the only earned tally in the game, which was greeted with an unusually slim Sunday attendance. It was a miserable day for both players and public, being cold, windy and disagreeable. Lieutenant Finley had ordered continued warm weather, with gentle zephyrs, but it failed to appear as per pre-

The game was about as interesting as the weather. Brevity was its best feature, aside from Hoffman's pitching. Lester P. German did tolerably well himself. He was touched ap for 10 hits, but had the young man been properly supported these would have cut little figure. O'Neil was too sick to play, but Horner filed the bill in right to play, but Horner filled the bill in right field. Had Tip been in condition he would have been stationed at second base, with O'Brien in the outfield, as O'Neil is a better and surer thrower than John J.

THE EARLIEST SYMPTOMS.

Disaster first appeared in the opening inning, when, with two hands out, Whitethe south, losing the first three games owing head undertook to head a man off at sec-ond. Hanley was on first and little Swee-ney broke off a grounder, which Whitehead fielded nicely. He intended to pass the ball on to O'Brien at second, but instead made a mistake and hurled it to the utmost con-fines of the lot Sweeper made the comtheir prospects for landing near the top at the close of the first season are bright. This is done to give Oak-land a fresh start in life with a view to re-viving the wailing interest in baseball. There is no doubt that if Oakland was in fines of the lot. Sweeney made the com-plete circuit before the ball was recovered, and this proceeding threw a large damper on the pastime. In the next inning Terrible Tom made a mooth double play unassisted. Had it been necessary to do any throwing, the chances are there would have been no double play. The Terror caught a fly ball and then touched the other man. In the first three innings for Oakland the side went out in order, six of the nine putches went out in order, six of the nine putouts being on fly balls. In the next, Mannasau was safe on Pete Sweeney's throw to Hoff-man, and took second on the play. Hutchin-son sacrificed and O'Brien's single sent the runner home.

THEY BROKE OUT AGAIN. Oakland got along very well, considering.

antil the seventh, when they broke out afresh and two more of the locals scored on the usual combinations. Kid Peoples hit for two sacks and Hoffman got a crack in the ribs for one. Sharp sacrificed and Han-ley forced Peoples at the plate on a grounder to short. Hanley started to steal second

The midsummer jinks of the San Fran-The midsummer jinks of the San Fran-cisco Bicycle Club were held on last Tuesday evening at the "Cyclers' Retreat," in one of the big redwood groves of picturesque Marin. The trees were decorated with handsome lanterns and the camp illumin-ated with benfires, giving a weird aspect to the beautiful valley. At 8:30 o'clock the guests began to arrive, and the rustic arch at the entrance was lit up by large pans of red fire and blue lights. At 9 p. M. services were begun around one of the bon-fires with songs and comic speeches. Later fires with songs and comic speeches. Later there was dancing in the main pavilion, fol-lowed by a grand supper, cooked and served to the King's taste. There were many toasts. The first, to Mr. Edwards, the leader of the camp, was responded to by that gentleman in flowery language. Others were in honor of "Larkspur," "The Cy-cler's Retreat" and "The San Francisco Bicycle Club." The music for the dancing was rendered by an amateur orchestra, ably led by Miss Gruenhagen

The day was perfect, and the crowd seemed to be in just the mood for enjoying a run and a good lunch at the Haywards Hotel. It may be that he became susticous from these remarks and prepared to kill himself if ar-rested. While I don't like to talk about the dead, I believe that it was impossible for a man like Pilcher to keep in the right path. "I am now convinced that Pilcher had completed the note he started to write to his wife when Lieft my desk and went out side a moment. H. L. Pleace Describes the Benefits of a Single Tax System.

At the meeting of the Single Tax Society. last night H. L. Pleace spoke on the social problems of the day. He referred to the platforms adopted by the recent National and State conventions of the different political parties, and called attention to the fact that the question of taxation is the most prominent feature of them all. "Taxation," the speaker said, "is the most important political question of the day.

most important pointical question of the day, and must be so until some plan is arrived at that will give perfect justice to all. "Tariff taxes are unjust, since they fall as heavily upon the poor as on the rich, and have the additional fault of destroying competition and raising prices. Taxes on improvements are unjust, for they are a fine upon industry and decrease the amount of improvement made, thereby making houses more scarce and accordingly keeping houses more scarce and accordingly keeping up rents. The single tax on the value of land would be just, for it would call upon men to contribute to the public revenues no In proportion to what they produce or a cumulate, but in proportion to the value of the natural opportunity they hold. It will destroy land monopoly, leave labor free and independent, secure to every one the full benefit of their industry and provide work and a living for all who are willing to work."

While the women were bemoaning the fate of Pilcher a chemical analysis of his stomach was being made by Dr. R. E. Wil-liams. Did he die from poison or natural causes? That was the question Police Sur-geon Somers and Captain Lees discussed for some time in the Receiving Hospital. Dr. Somers was of the opinion that if Pilcher had taken poison it was either hydrocyanic acid or cyanide of potassium.

hydrocyanic acid or cyanide of potasium. Death usually results from either in a period of from one to forty minutes. It is a fact that Pilcher died just 29 minutes after arrest and 15 minutes after arriving at the chief's office office. "While it is true," said Captain Lees, "that Pilcher told his wife that he would never again be imprisoned, he had no warn ing that he was to be arrested in connection with the Dick forgery until brought in yesterday. Some three months ago I ques-tioned him about his connection with a spurious coin swindle conducted by one Sanchez and another Spaniard. It seems that he had introduced intended dupes to Sanchez, but otherwise he could not be definitely connected with the scheme.

THE SAILOR'S UNION.

It Will Not Turn Out In To-Day's Parade for Want of a Band.

The dispute between the Musicians' Protective Union and the Sailors' Union as to whether the latter should have a union bang to accompany it in the fourth of July parade today, was not settled yesterday, and as a result the seamen will not participate in the procession. At a meeting held on Saturday a resolution was passed to the effect that the musi-blans were willing to furnish the sailors with a band if they would deposit in the hands of the chairman of the Federated Trades executive committee the sum of $105 which the musicians claim the seamen owe them

This was the matter discussed yesterday by the conference committee. The proceed-ings were private and several hours were consumed in talking over the various phases of the matter. No satisfactory arrangement was arrived at and so the sailors will not turn out today. The matter, however, will come up before the Sailors' Union at its meeting to-morrow night as to the action of the musicians and the justice of their claim.

Domestic Infelicity.

Colonel Thomas S. Harris, an old veteran of the late war, who lives on Clementina and Eighth streets, was arrested by Policeman James Smith and booked at the Southern Station on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon last night. While under the in-fluence of whisky the colonel quarreled with his aged wife and loaded his ancient horsepistol, with which he threatened to shoot her for incurring his displeasure. The policeman interfered before he could carry out his threat and placed him under arrest.

A Burglar Caught. While patrolling his beat on McAllister

A voluminous complaint charging Wells and Gracie Gilbert with forgery was being prepared by the Police Department yesterday. It will probably be filed to-day, whe the surviving conspirators will be booked.

THE INQUEST TO-DAY. Coroner Garwood decided to hold the inquest on Pilcher's body at 10:30 o'clock this morning, if the chemical analysis of the stomach were completed by that time. Wells was visited in the "tanks" by relatives, officers, attorneys and reporters.

relatives, oncers, attorneys and reporters. To the latter he repeated his story that he had no criminal intent in negotiating the loan for the woman he supposed to be Miss Dick, and that Pilcher had nothing to do with the matter. He admitted that he had been twice arrested for selling lands in the disputed El Sobrante district. He would have a tiked further upon this exhibit her have talked further upon this subject, but his attorney, ex-Judge Lawler, entered and advised him to say nothing more.

"OH, CAPTAIN! WHY DID YOU?" Ollie Hutchins, or Gracie Gilbert, as she has been know since she married the superin-tendent of a sawmill at South Bend, Wash., was visited in the City Prison Hospital only by detectives and new statherers. She is evidently prepared for a long stay, for her trunk was carried in early in the morning. As to the forgery which she committed at the instigation of Pilcher and Wells she had no additional details to impart. Of her early life she was retirent. She told about early life she was reticent. She told about her wanderings through the State of Wash-ington until she met and married Gilbert, both settling down at South Bend to lead straightforward lives and to forget the past. She could not understand why her maiden name and her past career had been men-tioned in connection with her arrest for for-gery. While she was complaining of this

Captain Lees entered the hospital. Throw-ing her arms around his neck she ex-claimed: "Oh, captain! why did you let them know? I was trying so hard to forget the past and lead an honest life." The head of the detective force had hard work to convince the evolted women that
